October, 2003-present

Partner in four person law firm limiting representation solely to municipal entities. Professional duties involve a wide range of areas, including, but not limited to, land use and planning, tax abatement, employment and personnel issues, and contract review and disputes. Representation includes both consultation with local administrators and boards, as well as appearances before New Hampshire courts, including the New Hampshire Supreme Court, and administrative agencies.

McLane, Graf, Raulerson & Middleton, Professional Association

Attorney

August, 1998-October, 2003

Litigation associate focusing on land use, eminent domain, tax abatement and real estate related litigation at one of the state's largest law firms. Significant experience researching and writing memoranda of law for internal use and for submission to state and federal courts. Courtroom experience included bench and jury trials, administrative appeals, and motion arguments in superior court, as well as hearings before the state Board of Tax and Land Appeals. Additional litigation skills developed during zoning board of adjustment and planning board presentations.
